Computer Setup

1 Plug the USB-C cable into your laptop.

2 Right click on the desktop and choose Display Settings.

3 Scroll down and locate Multiple Displays. Select Extend Desktop on 1 and 2.
4 Select Keep Changes.

5 Scroll back up and click on Identify.

6 Click and drag the screens to reflect the example picture, then click Apply.

7 Select screen 2, scroll down to Multiple Displays, and check Make this my main display. If you prefer another screen you can choose that display screen.

8 You can close out of the Settings window and you are all set.
